1. What are cookies and similar tracking technologies?

(1) Cookies

Cookies are text files containing small piece of data that are downloaded to your browser or device when you visit a certain web address, and can be recalled by a web server in the domain that placed the cookie. This data often consists of a string of numbers and letters that uniquely identifies your device, but it can contain other information as well. Some cookies are placed by third parties acting on our behalf.

Cookies can remain on your device for different periods of time. Some Cookies are "session" Cookies, meaning that they exist only while your browser or the application is open. These Cookies are deleted automatically once you close your browser or application. Other Cookies are called "persistent" Cookies. The length of time a persistent Cookie stays on your device varies from Cookie to Cookie. They can be used to recognize your device when you open and use the websites again.

(2) Web beacons

Some of our webpages contain electronic tags known as web beacons (such as pixel tags, clear GIFs, JavaScript, and local storage, also known as "tracking pixels") that we use to help deliver cookies on our websites, count users who have visited those websites, and deliver co-branded products (if any). We also include web beacons or similar tracking technologies in our electronic communications to determine whether you open and act on them.

(3) Other similar tracking technologies

In addition to standard cookies and web beacons, our Services may also use other similar tracking technologies to store and read data files on your device. This is typically done to maintain your preferences or to improve speed and performance by storing certain files locally. But, like standard cookies, these tracking technologies can also store a unique identifier for your device, which can then track behavior.

(4) Third party cookies

Finally, our Services may contain standard cookies, web beacons or similar tracking technologies (collectively, "Cookies") from third-party analytics providers, which help us compile aggregated statistics about the effectiveness of our promotional campaigns or other operations. These technologies enable the analytics providers to set or read their own cookies or other identifiers on your device, through which they can collect information about your use of our website and other Services, including your IP address, web browser, mobile network information, pages viewed, time spent on pages or in apps, links clicked and conversion information. However, we prohibit these analytics providers from using web beacons on our sites to collect or access information that directly identifies you (such as your name or email address).

If you would like more information about the types of cookies or similar technologies we use, how we utilize them, and the methods for controlling your cookies, please click here.

2.Use of Cookies and similar tracking technologies

Cookies are widely used by website owners to make their websites operate, work more efficiently, and provide analytic information. We use Cookies for following purposes:

(1) store and honor your preferences and settings;

(2) enable you to sign in and authorize;

(3) evaluate and tailor our marketing communications so as to provide interest-based advertising;

(4) combat fraud;

(5) analyze how our Services perform;

(6) generally improving the user experience; and

(7) fulfill other legitimate purposes.

Where required, we obtain your consent prior to placing or using optional cookies that are not (i) strictly necessary to provide the website; or (ii) for the purpose of facilitating a communication. Please see the "How to Control or Delete Cookies" section below for more information.

3. What types of Cookies do we use and how do we use them?

- Strictly Necessary Cookies

These are necessary for the website or application to function and cannot be switched off in our systems. They also can be set in response to actions made by you which amount to a request for services, such as setting your privacy preferences, or where applicable, logging in or filling in forms. You can set your browser or mobile device to block these cookies, but some parts of our Services may not work properly in that case.

4. How to control or delete cookies?

We keep information collected from Cookies for no longer than the maximum period permitted by law.

You have the right to choose whether or not to accept Cookies. To opt-in to or out of Cookies, please click on our banner which will pop-up on your first visit to Horizon Robotics | To make human life safer and better.

However, please note that if you choose to refuse Cookies you may not be able to use the full functionality of our sites.

You can also update your preferences at any time – most devices and browsers allow you to change your Cookie settings. These settings will typically be found in the "options" or "preferences" menu of your browser.

5. How this Cookie Policy Is Updated

We will update this Cookie Policy from time to time as we undertake new Personal Data practices or adopt new privacy policies. If we make changes, we will notify you by revising the date at the top of this Cookie Policy and, if we make any material changes to the ways in which we collect, use and/or share the information contained in cookies, we will notify you by prominently displaying a notice of such changes when you log on or use the services. We encourage you to refer to this page from time to time for notification of changes to this Cookies Policy or our other policies.

6. Cookies that have been set in the past

If you have disabled one or more Cookies, we may still use information collected from Cookies prior to your disabled preference being set, however, we will stop using the disabled Cookie to collect any further information.

7. Contact Us

If you have questions or concerns about this Cookie Policy, or to exercise any of your rights and choices as described herein, please contact us by using the email or send a letter to our Data Protection Officer (or department responsible for the protection of Personal Data) to the mailing address below. Normally, we will respond within 30days, or 90 days in the case of a complex situation or multiple requests.
